Thank you for considering a freelance submission to ADVANCE for Physical Therapy & Rehab Medicine. We welcome freelance submissions from licensed physical therapists, PTAs, students and professionals in related fields, in addition to professional freelance writers.

ABOUT THE PUBLICATION
ADVANCE for Physical Therapy & Rehab Medicine is a print publication and online resource serving members of the physical therapy profession. Subscribers are primarily physical therapists, PTAs and senior-level students, but also include directors of rehabilitation, orthotists and prosthetists, academicians, researchers, policymakers and allied professionals in the rehabilitation field.

WHAT WE ACCEPT
ADVANCE seeks feature-length articles on a variety of topics pertinent to the physical therapy and rehabilitation fields, including personal profiles, hard news, spotlights on specific practice settings or patient populations, clinical and research updates, legislative and policy developments and more. You may submit up to three (3) high-resolution photos to accompany your article. Any photos not used in the print publication may be posted online. Charts and sidebars to enhance the story are welcome.

FORMAT AND STYLE
Feature articles are approximately 1,200 words in length. ADVANCE prefers a narrative format over a medical journal structure. You may use first-person voice and discuss your facility or program, but please refrain from making the article too self-promotional. Brand-name product mentions are prohibited. References are not required, but if included, should be numbered sequentially in the text and listed in corresponding order at the end. Citations should be in AMA style. Please include a brief author bio at the end of the article, including credentials, clinical title/position and name and location of facility, along with a mailing address.

PAYMENT
ADVANCE will not reimburse for freelance content except in cases discussed with the editor prior to acceptance. Reimbursement will not exceed $150.

COPYRIGHT TERMS
ADVANCE asks that the article be original, and that it appears first and only in ADVANCE for Physical Therapy & Rehab Medicine. It will also be archived on our website, and may be republished in print or online by any of the healthcare newsmagazines under the Merion Matters brand. While all research and content contained within the article belong to the author, the edited article and graphic presentation as they appear in ADVANCE may not be redistributed or posted in any other publication or website without the expressed permission from the publisher.

SUBMISSION AND ACCEPTANCE
Please email your completed document as a Word attachment to Jonathan Bassett at jbassett@advanceweb.com. We will respond to you with an initial determination of whether the article is something we are interested in publishing. Due to the volume of materials submitted, we are unable to provide a tentative publication date upon acceptance, but will contact you once a date has been determined. ADVANCE will edit for style, clarity and length. Large revisions will be discussed with the author and an edited version will be provided the author for approval prior to publication.
